Romance Ends For Chaplin Bride

Charlie Chaplin's School Girl Bride of Two Months Unhappy—No Expectation of Separation But Financial Agreement Is Being Effected.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 31.—A school girl's dream of romance and happiness with the most famous clown in the world, Charlie Chaplin, was seemingly at an end today when it was learned that attorneys representing Lila Grey Chaplin, his bride of two months after a colorless romance, were trying to effect a financial agreement between the film star and his girl wife.

Edwin McMurray, well known San Francisco lawyer and uncle of Mrs. Chaplin, now in Los Angeles, was quoted today as admitting that financial negotiations were in progress between Chaplin and his bride but denied that the negotiations were the forerunners of a separation or divorce. At that same time all effort to reach the comedian or Mrs. Chaplin proved futile.

McMurray said Mrs. Chaplin had nothing to say and Chaplin was secluding but just where he was his servants would not disclose.

Speculation was also rife today with the report of the financial negotiations. Just what would be their effect on the situation of a baby expected to be born to Mrs. Chaplin, who made the announcement a few weeks ago that she would become a mother, was a subject of conjecture.

The Chaplin-Grey romance, which culminated at Empalme, Mexico, in November, when they were married, has aroused the curiosity of the whole Hollywood film colony as nothing else ever has done.

Mrs. Chaplin, it was reliably reported, has frequently told friends that she was unhappy because Chaplin was home so little, he never took her out in public and that her only diversion to break the monotony of staying alone in the Chaplin mansion in Beverly Hills is an occasional shopping tour with her mother. Soon after their marriage Mrs. Chaplin told friends that her famous husband was busily engaged in making pictures and that home life would have to be side tracked for the time being.

Dogs Winning In Death Race

Charge of World's Champion Dog Derby Racer, Alaskan Dogs Hasten Toward Nome With Serum for Diphtheria Sufferers.

Telegraph to The Freeman.

Anchorage, Alaska, Jan. 31.—With vicious serum to save the lives of scores, including many children, dying in Nome, Alaska, Leonard Seppala, world's champion dog derby racer, was winning his race against death today.

A wireless message here reported that Seppala left Kaltag, about 300 miles from Nome, yesterday afternoon. He expected to come to the end of the trail some time this afternoon.

Pioneers of the north figure that a good luck Seppala and his fast team would reach the stricken city at about one o'clock this afternoon.

This would make the record time for the mushing dogs across the frozen trail from Nenana to Nome, a distance of more than 1,000 miles, total hours.

Seppala, his friends here said, probably will make the last grind to end of the trail without difficulty, has to pass across Blizard-cut, Tanana Bay, but strung along the are three roadhouses where he stops for a brief rest and food.

On this side of the bay and will catch a chance to feed boiled rice and salmon to the dogs, and give the mushing driver a chance to change room for the two large and modern school rooms. The new building is two stories in height with a large attic extending the entire length of the upper floor. There is also an exceptionally large basement that runs the entire length of the building in which are housed the heating plant and bowling alleys. The new building is built entirely of brick, with hardwood floors and chestnut trim. The floor of the basement and the corridors adjoining the school rooms are of "Kempolite," and are not only durable but attractive and easily kept clean.

The new school and parish house is of semi-colonial design with four large pillars in front. A top of the roof peak is a large cross. The photograph of the building shown here will give an excellent idea of the exterior appearance of the new building. The building was designed by Architect George E. Lowe of this city and embodies the ideas of Pastor Schroeder and the building committee.

There are two entrances to the building. One leads to the second floor, which has been remodelled in a modern style room apartment with bath, laundry and pantry for the use of the pastor and his family. The other entrance admits into a large room which will be used as a lounge and will be appropriately furnished for that purpose. Adjoining the lounge is another large room that will be used for meeting purposes. In this room the church council and the various committees of the different church organizations will hold their sessions. Part of the committee room is a smaller room which will be used as a first aid room.

Immanuel School Dedication Sunday

The School and Parish House of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston Street Was Completed at Cost of $47,000—Description of Building and Brief History of School.

The Immanuel Lutheran School will be used as a cloak room just off the first aid room.

The ceilings in the rooms mentioned are slightly over ten feet in height. As it was necessary to have twelve foot ceilings in the rooms used for school purposes this is accomplished by dropping the floor of the rear section of the building the necessary distance.

Entrance to the school is obtained through a large corridor leading from the committee room down a flight of two short steps. The floor is "Kempolite" and the corridor runs the entire length of one of the school rooms to the entrance to the other room.

There are two large rooms that have been set apart for school purposes. Each room is 22x33 feet; each room is equipped with fifty desks. The school has an enrollment of seventy-six pupils at the present time and the school has been built so as to care for an increase in enrollment.

The two school rooms are the last word in school construction. The rooms are equipped with adjustable seats and desks of the latest and most modern design, installed by the American Seating Company. Not Brief Description of Building.

The former parsonage adjoining the church has been entirely remodelled and a new addition of seventy-six feet built in the rear to make room for the two large and modern school rooms. The new building is two stories in height with a large attic extending the entire length of the upper floor. There is also an exceptionally large basement that runs the entire length of the building in which are housed the heating plant and bowling alleys. only can the seat be adjusted to any height but also the desk. By this method each desk and seat can be adjusted to the requirements of the child using it.

The school rooms are equipped with the Franks ventilated wardrobes for the clothing and lunches of the pupils. These wardrobes are built on one side of each room and when closed the doors, which are equipped with black boards, can be used for school purposes. The wardrobes contain hooks for the clothing and places for the lunch boxes of the pupils. Each wardrobe is thoroughly ventilated by the Franks system, which is also used to ventilate the school rooms.

Large windows on one side of the school room afford plenty of light during the day, and at night modern electrical fixtures afford plenty of illumination.

The school rooms are so arranged that from every part of the room the teacher can see the children. At all times there is an unimpeded view of the room and its occupants. George

Train Blown From Viaduct Kills 3

Atlantic Gales Sweeping Over Ireland Add to Terror of Famines—Irish Free State Prepares Public Works Program to Furnish Employment.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Dublin, Jan. 31.—Gales blowing off the Atlantic are daily adding to the hardships of the inhabitants of the west counties of Ireland, which today are in the grip of famine, carrying the menace of starvation to hundreds of unemployed and their families.

Three were dead and ten injured today from derailment of two coaches of a train, blown from the viaduct by the fury of the gale last night.

In Donegal the situation has been aggravated by epidemics which have killed huge flocks of sheep.

The famine area covers several hundred square miles. Industries which ordinarily furnish a winter livelihood for the farmers of these districts are at a standstill.

The Irish Free State is preparing to increase its public works projects in order to give employment to starving workers and the Ulster government has taken steps to aid the sufferers of its territory. Funds are being received also from outside charitable organizations.

Greece Aroused At Turks' Action

Expulsion of Head of Greek Church From Constantinople Taken as an Affront to Church and Country—Will Protest to World Powers.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Athens, Jan. 31.—Greece and Turkey, perennial enemies, threatened to reach for their scabbards again today. Greece was aroused in the extreme by the expulsion from Constantinople yesterday of the Ecumenical patriarch, head of the Greek Church in that city.

Church bells tolled all over Greece today in token of national mourning over what is considered an affront to the church and to the country.

Greece will address a protest to all the world powers over the expulsion, it was learned.

A violent demonstration in parliament greeted receipt of the news.

Former Minister of War Pangalos in a fiery address declared: "Only by armed force can Turkey be brought to reason."

A meeting of the cabinet has been called to consider what steps shall be taken in retaliation.

2 Year Sentence For Bigamist

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Binghamton, N. Y., Jan. 31.—William "Wild Bill" Wrightman was sentenced today to two years in Auburn State Prison on a charge of bigamy by Judge Benjamin Baker. Wrightman, when 21, became heir to an estate of $750,000, but his fortune now is only $100,000, according to reports at the trial.

He is alleged to have married a Philadelphia girl and later to have married Lucy J. McGrady of Endicott, near here. He was arrested in Baltimore for speeding and then the second wife learned of the first.

His grandfather was the head of a Philadelphia chemical company, once ambassador to Austria, and a millionaire.

Houses Clash on Postal Pay Bill

Representatives Claim Action of Senate in Inaugurating Wage Increase is Invasion of Their Constitutional Function and Therefore Unconstitutional.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Congress was split today in a clash between the Senate and the House over the constitutional power to initiate changes in postal rates.

The Senate's passing of the Moses omnibus postal bill, providing a $68,000,000 wage increase for post office employees but raising postal rates to furnish the necessary revenue, provoked universal condemnation from house members as an invasion of the house's constitutional function to initiate revenue measures.

Supported by both Republican and Democratic leaders, the house ways and means committee was to meet today to consider a resolution denouncing the bill and the Senate's action as "unconstitutional," and directing the speaker to return the measure to the Senate without further consideration. If this be done it will kill all chances for enactment of the postal salary increase at this session of Congress.

A substitute committee of the committee already has commanded this action.

If this threat be carried out it will be the first time in a decade that the house has gone on record repudiating an act of the other branch as "unconstitutional."

Five Killed in Chicago Fire

Tenants Become Panic Stricken When Flames Sweep Through Apartment—University Students Aid in Work of Rescue.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 31.—Five persons were killed, one woman was injured, some badly, in a fire which destroyed a three story apartment house early today.

Guests in the exclusive Del Prado Hotel next door were aroused from their slumbers by the night telephone operator and fled to safety. The hotel was not damaged.

Several University of Chicago fraternity houses were near the burned structure. Students aided firemen and police in rescuing imperiled occupants of the apartment, who became panic stricken as the flames spread through the structure.

The fire started at 3 o'clock on a lower floor. It spread rapidly. Within 20 minutes the roof collapsed.

MAY SUBSTITUTE BUSES FOR NEW PALM-HIGHLAND TROLLEY

Three applications were received by the village board of trustees of New Palms at the monthly meeting held recently to operate a bus line from Highland ferry landing to New Palms over the concrete state highway. No action was taken by the board, the applications being filed. Those who applied were George J. Hall of New Palms, Mr. Elliott of Highland and Mr. DeBris of Marlborough. The New Palms Independent says that the filing of the applications is probably the foundation of the rumor that the trolley line will soon stop operations.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

OCEAN'S GENEROSITY

"I wonder if they thought I was selfish before," said Mother Ocean.

Mr. Sun was looking down upon her and was saying a polite good-night before he went to sleep.

He was wearing a very handsome suit of gold and red and he had cast a beautiful band of color right straight around the rim of the world. It seemed.

"I am sure no one ever has thought you were selfish," said Mr. Sun.

"Well," said Mother Ocean, "I heard a very curious thing today. Some people were traveling on one of the great big boats I allow to pass over me.

"It was the first trip they had ever made upon the ocean, so they said. They hadn't have said that, for I could realize from the speeches they made that they had not traveled on the ocean before.

"Doubtless they knew about coasts and rocks and of how I look near the land when I talk to my shore cousins, the Rock family and all of the others.

"But they said: 'Goodness, but there is a lot of ocean. We've been out now for three days, and we have been going steadily all the time and still we are not near land. And not another boat to be seen. We never knew the ocean was so enormous.'

"Ah, Mr. Sun, they had no idea of my generosity. I'm not one of your mean little bodies of water.

"I'm generous. I'm very generous with myself.

"I spread myself over so much distance and I say to all who cross me: 'Here I am. Lots and lots of me. When you come for an ocean voyage you get an ocean voyage—you don't get a little bit of a boat ride and then home in time for supper.

"Oh, no, I'm your generous ocean."

"Of course," Mother Ocean continued, "I don't know that they always care for so much generosity on my part. Perhaps they would like me to be smaller so they could travel all about the world and get everywhere in quick time.

"But they'd soon weary of that.

"What would be the fun in thinking of strange places all over the world

"Goodness, there is a lot of ocean," and in planning to see them some day if they were right around the corner.

"Or when thinking of their great and enormous country would people like it if they could see it all in a day's ride?

"I don't believe they would. It's an event to go from one part of the country to another.

"Maybe they dream for years of the time when they'll see what the East looks like if they happen to live East of what the East looks like if they happen to live West—or they may want to see it further North or down South or along the Middle states!

"The country is generous. There is lots of it. Lots and lots to see.

"So is the ocean generous. I may not have all the different sights that the land has—I may not have different views every time you look out at me from a ship as you would have if you looked out from a train window going across the country—but I have size.

"Everything that is a body of water cannot be the ocean. I have really accomplished something.

"I have done what only a few others have done—and they are all of my own Ocean family.

"Oh, Mr. Sun, when you go to sleep tonight I think perhaps you may dream of the miles and miles and miles and miles and miles of ocean you've seen and you'll think how beautiful it is to see me in the morning when you get up and in the evening when you go to bed.

"Of course many travelers have said they would never know which was east and which was west when traveling on the ocean unless they saw you, for they know you rise in the east and go to bed in the west bedroom.

"Yes, you have an east morning dressing room, and a west bedroom for sleeping.

"It's of particular help to ocean travelers.

"But oh, Mr. Sun, no one has any idea of the ocean's generosity until they come and take a trip upon me and then they see how enormous I am—how perfectly enormously enormous!

"That's the only way in which I can describe my size. And I call it generous to spread me out as I do."

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

A good peppery dish of chili will be welcome these chilly days of winter.

Chili Con Carne.—Cut into pieces, as for fricassee, one chicken, weighing four pounds. Season each piece with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and quickly brown in a little hot fat. Roll six large red peppers until soft, press through a colander, removing the seeds and white portion. Put through a food chopper two small onions, or three cloves of garlic and one-quarter of a cupful of capers. Add this mixture to the browned chicken in a stewpan, cover with boiling water or seasoned stock and cook until the chicken is tender. Before serving the chicken thicken the liquid with flour and butter and season well with salt.

Croûte Meat Pie.—Prepare one quart of cornmeal mush, using one cupful of cornmeal, four cupfuls of boiling water and a teaspoonful of salt. Brown one minced onion in four tablespoonfuls of butter; add one pound of hamburger steak and cook until the red color has left the meat. Add one teaspoonful of salt, one chopped sweet pepper and one pint of sifted tomato. Cover the bottom of a greased casserole with a layer of the cooked mush, then a layer of the seasoned meat; repeat until all is used. Sprinkle a little grated cheese and buttered crumbs over the top and bake for half an hour.

Gelatin of Liver.—Put one and one-half pounds of calf's liver through the meat chopper; mix with one cupful of fine bread crumbs; add two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-half teaspoonful of pepper, a dash of cayenne and a tablespoonful of scraped onion. Moisten with thin cream and hot water to soak the crumbs, adding butter to the water if there is no cream. Add two well-beaten eggs and steam in a cylindrical mold for an hour. When firm, remove from the heat. Slice cold in thin slices; serve with hot rice potatoes.

On a Diet

Little Ruth Fishback, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fishback of Breckenwood, was sitting on a log, which was on the hearth of the fireplace at her home one night recently.

On being questioned by her mother as to what she was doing and why she was so quiet the child answered: "I'm playing I'm on a diet."

When Ruth saw the misunderstanding from on her mother's face she replied: "Isn't a diet a thing you're on where you don't get anything to eat?"

The rest of the evening was spent in explaining.—Indianapolis News.

The Deepest Sea

The discovery of a spot in the Pacific ocean, southwest of Japan, 32,000 feet deep, will not greatly astonish oceanographers, for the Pacific has long been known as the deepest of all the great seas of the globe.

Nowhere else has any depth been reached as great as 30,000 feet, but in the Pacific as many as ten soundings have been made exceeding that figure. In the Atlantic only two places are known with depths greater than 24,000 feet, the deepest being a spot north of the West Indies, where the lead found bottom at 27,772 feet.

Put in Date Book

The Andromeda is expected to come from the direction of Andromeda in the evening hours, about November 22 or 24, says Nature Magazine. Then there are the Taurids, several different times during the month from different points in Taurus. These also will appear in the evening hours from the direction of Taurus, nearly due east.

Place for Summer Resorts

"What are the mountains feet?" asked the teacher of the juvenile geography class.

"For summer resorts," answered the boy at the foot of the class.

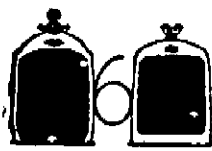

Then She Gave Him Up

"Why did you break off your engagement?" "Oh, my dear, Jack because he is a Jew."

"The way I dreamed and objected to my friends, and always wanted up at his back and roll. Then on top of all that he suddenly went off and married another girl. I made up my mind to have nothing more to do with him."

Why NEW PAIGE and NEW JEWETT

Have New Smoothness—New Ability—
New Comfort—New Silence—New Dependability

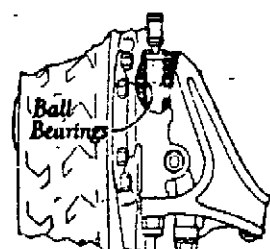

There are reasons for these new qualities in the New Paige and New Jewett. And there are reasons why these new qualities are permanent. Certain brand-new features have been added. Certain old features—proved satisfactory in our years of use—have been retained, with improvements where possible for even finer service. We did not sacrifice proved goodness to cry "new." It is the combination of these features, new and old, that makes a new engineering achievement possible—Permanent Perfected Performance. Besides this we have created twelve new beautiful bodies with new grace of line and finish and equipment.

Paige and Jewett prices have not been increased as they might justly be to cover these improvements. Judged by comparable cars—the New Paige and New Jewett are actually underpriced! $150 to $200.

Ball-Bearing Steering Spindles

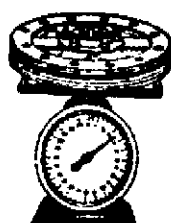

Paige and Jewett have been noted for their remarkably easy steering—finger-touch control, thanks to ball-bearing steering spindles. With the advent of balloon tires—Paige-Jewett engineers insisted on completely redesigning steering to offset the increased road friction of balloon tires. So in the New Paige and New Jewett, ball-bearing, special-gear steering gives touch guidance and lets you have the benefit of balloon tires without the usual hard steering.

Silent Chain Drive

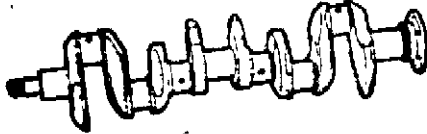

Paige and Jewett motors are built with silent chain drive for pump and timing shafts. Chains wear, stretch after a while. So we provide an automatic take-up sprocket that keeps a constant tension on the chain, completely offsetting the effects of wear (stretch), preventing back-lash and retaining timing accuracy. Silence is permanent.

This chain drive was successfully used for two years in Paige. Now, refined, it is in the New Jewett.

Clutch that Smoothes Gear-Shifting

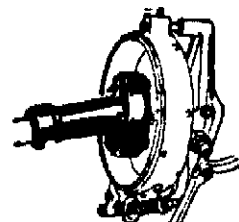

The saw-blade steel clutch, used in Paige and Jewett, engages so gently that even a novice will rarely jerk or stall the car. Never a "miss" or gear-clash. The reason is a driven member so light that it stops spinning almost instantly when you throw out the clutch. It quickly adjusts itself to speed changes. With this clutch and the perfected transmission in the New Paige and New Jewett, you can shift quickly and easily from high to second at 30

New Balanced Crankshafts

Balanced crankshafts give new smoothness to Paige and Jewett. Vibration cannot be detected—regardless of speed.

Silken smoothness at 2 miles an hour or top speed.

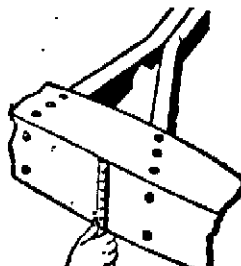

All-Steel Universal Joints

Paige and Jewett universals are all-steel. Lubrication, good for 15,000 miles, is sealed in. Wear—back-lash—is postponed indefinitely. A hundred thousand Paige-Jewett owners know the advantages of these universals. Owners of New Paiges and New Jewetts are learning them.

New Spring Design

To get the full comfort from balloon tires, our engineers completely redesigned spring suspension. Paige's rear springs are more than 5 feet long—Jewett's practically half the length of its wheelbase! This length of springs, with newly designed suspension, balloon tires, and weight of cars, give unsurpassed riding comfort in the New Paige and New Jewett.

Extra Strong Frames

The frames of the New Paige and New Jewett are unusually strong—with four heavy cross-members and special bracing for diagonal stresses. They are built to handle the car's ample power without strain and to stand up under the grueling punishment of bad roads. They are heavy—for pounds of steel mean pounds of strength, life. These are typical of construction throughout in the New Paige and New Jewett.

Two Cars—One Quality.

If you wish these new qualities in a moderate-sized car—then buy the New Jewett. If your desire runs to a big car with all the added advantages of larger size—then the New Paige suits your needs. But both are alike in this—Permanent Perfected Performance.

PAIGE PRICES: Phaeton (5 or 7), $2165—Brougham (5), $2295—Sedan (7), $2400—Suburban Limousine (7), $2965. Complete equipment included.

JEWETT PRICES: Standard Touring (5), $1775—De Luxe Touring, $1790—Coupe (5), $1810—Standard Brougham (5), $1835—De Luxe Brougham, $1850—Standard Sedan (5), $1945—De Luxe Sedan, $1745.

Four-wheel brakes optional on all models at slight extra cost. All prices at Detroit. Tax extra.

Study the Chigger

Chiggers are the worst of the material you would care to bring into your schoolroom for study; and it is to be hoped that the outbreak of chigger has led to the unwitting acquisition of a supply. On the other hand, a lesson would be valuable to any class, says Nature Magazine. Youngsters know when and where the danger of attack is greatest, and the best means of preventing it, may be saved much and suffering.

Flashlight Aids Seemstress

After reaching out her patience in threading the needle of her sewing machine, an inquisitive housekeeper in Portsmouth, Ohio, attached a flashlight to the arm of the machine, and then closed her troubles, says Popular Science Monthly. The light was clamped to the machine with a strap of brass and a pair of bolts and wing-nuts in a position that threw the needle into silhouette when the light is turned on.

Important Spot in Eye

The circular yellow spot called "macula lutea" and known after its discoverer, as "the yellow spot of Semmer," is about one-twentieth of an inch in diameter. The only macula in which it exists are man and monkey. It is the area of most distinct vision, a circumstance which may partly be accounted for by the fact that it is singularly free from blood vessels, which would cloud it and so partially blind it.

World's Match Consumption

The United States uses more than 1,000,000,000 matches made out of wood every year. This is about 37 matches a day for every man, woman and child in the country, based on a population of 130,000,000 or 4,000,000 daily. Several statistics from Europe have placed the per capita consumption there at 14 matches a day. The world output was $200,000,000 and reached a total of 4,675,000,000 matches a year.

Mohammed's Surrender

One of the oldest dates of which any record can be found is the Arabian "hijrah," which is said to have been invented and named by the Prophet Mohammed. It consists of five colored dates coated with a mixture of honey and butter, and it is with a favorite dessert and collection among the Orientals, to whom the date is a staple food. It is interesting to note that the word "hijrah" has come to be used by the Arabs as a synonym for migration.

Retail Coal
Prices Increased

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 31.—Average retail coal prices for stove anthracite, chestnut anthracite, and bituminous coal for the country as a whole increased approximately two per cent
each, between July and November, 1924, says the National Industrial Conference Board, 247 Park avenue,
New York city. The retail bituminous prices during this period varied considerably in different cities, ranging from 25 per cent increase in Jacksonville to 8.8 per cent decrease in Detroit. Stove and chestnut anthracite prices varied much less than bituminous coal prices, the largest increase being 8.4 per cent for stove size in Kansas City, Kan., and the greatest decrease two per cent for chestnut size in Cincinnati.

In the eastern section of the country, the increases for anthracite since 1914 were more than 90 per cent for every city reporting except Pittsburgh, where chestnut anthracite increased only about 60 per cent. The other cities were Albany, Baltimore, Bloomfield, N. J., Boston, Bridgeport, Buffalo, Cambridge, Fall River, Lawrence, Lynn, Manchester, N. H., Newark, New Britain, New Haven, New York, Paterson, Philadelphia, Portland, Me., Providence, Reading, Rochester, Schenectady, Springfield, Mass., Syracuse, Trenton, Washington
and Wilmington, Del. In the four months period ending November, 1924, three of these cities reported no change in average anthracite prices;
all others reported increases. For the section as a whole, which included 30 cities, stove anthracite prices had increased 115.2 per cent and chestnut anthracite 108.2 per cent since 1914. Anthracite coal is most generally used for domestic purposes in the east and consequently the increase in its price is more important than those for bituminous coal. Bituminous coal prices in this section showed much smaller increases since 1914 than those of anthracite, the advance in bituminous coal prices for the section as a whole averaging slightly less than 71 per cent. Increases were reported in the price of bituminous coal in five cities of this section between July and November, 1924; decreases in eight cities; and no change in 11 cities.

In the middle western district, the average increases for anthracite since 1914 were somewhat lower than in the eastern section and for bituminous coal they were slightly higher. The greatest average increase noted for anthracite in the section since 1914 was 121 per cent,
reported from Columbus for chestnut size anthracite. The largest increase for bituminous coal was approximately 103 per cent, reported from St. Louis. Of the 18 cities reporting fuel prices in this section, 15 (Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland,
Columbus, Dayton, Detroit, Duluth,
Indianapolis, Kansas City, Mo.,
Louisville, Milwaukee, Wis., Minneapolis, Omaha, St. Louis, and St.
Paul), had increases in average anthracite prices of more than 90 per cent since 1914. The only cities where increases since 1914 were less than 90 per cent were Kansas City, Kan., where stove and chestnut anthracite were reported to have advanced only about 49 per cent and 87 per cent respectively and Grand Rapids, where chestnut anthracite was reported to be 75 per cent above its pre-war price. For Toledo the change since 1914 was not obtained. The lowest average increase since 1914 for bituminous coal in this section was slightly less than 48 per cent in Duluth. In this section as a whole, the average increases since 1914 were approximately 101 per cent for stove anthracite, a little less than 99 per cent for chestnut anthracite,
and about 74 per cent for bituminous coal. In the four-month period July to November, 1924, greater average increases were noted for bituminous coal than for anthracite. For this section as a whole there were during the four months previous to November, 1924, increases of 2.1 per cent for stove anthracite, 1.6 per cent for chestnut anthracite and 3.4 per cent
for bituminous coal.

In the south, the average increase from July to November, 1924, for bituminous coal for the section as a whole was almost 5 per cent, which was substantially larger than the average increase of approximately 2 per cent for stove and chestnut anthracite. Increases of 90 per cent or more since 1914 for anthracite were reported from Atlanta, Charleston, Jacksonville, Memphis, and New Orleans, and for bituminous coal from Birmingham and Dallas. Since 1914, for the southern section as a whole,
the average increases amounted to 102 per cent, 96 per cent and 74 per cent for stove anthracite, chestnut anthracite, and bituminous coal, respectively.

For the far west, the average increase reported for both anthracite and bituminous coal were approximately 2 per cent or slightly more in the last four-month period. The average increases in this section since 1914 were relatively very much smaller than for any other section of the country in the same period;
they were approximately 67 per cent, 55 per cent and 48 per cent for stove anthracite, chestnut anthracite, and bituminous coal, respectively. The largest increase in average coal prices since 1914 for any separate city in this section was approximately 76 per cent for stove anthracite reported from Denver. The smallest was about 38 per cent for bituminous coal in San Francisco.

Weighing these changes in the cost of anthracite and bituminous coal and the importance of each as a domestic fuel, the combined change in the cost of coal between July and November, 1924, for the country as a whole was an advance of slightly more than 2 per cent; the total increase since July, 1914, was 62 per cent.

Ease of Proper
Care of the Skin

Importance of Healthy Skin, Aside
From the Part It Plays in Making
For Beauty, Stressed by State Department of Health.

Care of the skin was the subject of the regular weekly health talk of the state department of health, broadcast Friday evening from Station WGY, Schenectady. The talk was given by Dr. Walter James Highman, a prominent dermatologist of New York city, and it should be of interest to everyone who desires to make a good personal appearance.
Dr. Highman states that the care of the skin is simple if the facts are realized, and quacks, patent medicines and beautifying advertisements are ignored. He says that the important things are soap and water and attention to general health.

"A daily bath, a soap and water washing of the face twice daily, a weekly shampoo," stated Dr. High-man, "are the essentials that make for cleanliness. A mild soap yielding a good lather should be used.
Green soap is always bad. It usually dries out the skin and often inflames it. The general health rules to be observed are those of common sense. Constipation should be avoided, preferably through proper diet, and sufficient sleep should be had. Too much tea, coffee and alcohol are bad for the complexion.

"Wrinkles cannot be cured.
Freckles cannot be permanently removed. Gray hair cannot be restored to its original color. Dyes are often harmful. Falling hair can often be stopped, but rarely by patent medicines. Pimples, known as acne, is a curable condition, but rarely through salves and lotions alone. The cure rests with a skillful physician. Massage of the face, complexion brushes and the like do more harm than good in acne, and rarely do good in anything else.

"Good cold cream to cleanse the skin before washing, is useful in the general hygiene of the skin. In itself it is of little use. The skin changes in its character and needs at different times of life. At fifty, to expect to have the skin of twenty, is absurd. But at fifty you can have the best kind of skin for that age.
If you will keep your simple bodily functions in order, and use plenty of soap and water. Other than this, unless you have a skin disease which needs treatment, the less you do to your skin, the better. If you have a skin disease, seek competent medical advice. Don't ask your neighbor, or the barber, or the manicurist.
Ask a doctor.

"Moles should not be irritated.
Irritating them often leads to cancer. If a mole grows in size, or if a brown one grows darker, it should be removed. There are several ways of doing this; only a physician will know the right one. Don't use caustics, styptics and irritating ointments, or squeeze or scratch a mole.
You may lose your life if you do."
At about forty, skin cancer may develop. It often starts as a slightly scaling spot that looks like nothing in particular. The same precautions should be used, and the same rules followed as for moles. If they are treated properly and promptly cancers of the skin can be kept quite harmless in most cases.

"If people would use as much judgment in taking care of their health, including their skin and skin diseases, as they use in selecting a butcher, or their clothes, or a play, they would be far better off in the long run, and probably even save a great deal of money. It can be done by seeking the advice of those who know what they are talking about,
and by following it when it has been found. Common sense should be the guide."

THE CROSS-WORD
PUZZLE SCARE.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)
The nonchalance of the bandana
makes small appeal to the woman who thinks of neckwear in terms of ruches and bows—not obsolete terms by any means. There is, for instance, the black petal bow lined with gray crepe, a dignified contribution to the matron's wardrobe, and there is the handkerchief, as gay as one pleases, for the younger woman.

While the long scarf has almost entirely replaced the bandana, there have been repeated reports of bandkerchiefs being worn on the Riviera and at our own Palm Beach, provided, of course, that women scartorially established may wear whatever pleases them without the foolish fear of a criticism which implies one is wearing something held over from another season.

One very smart natural kasha coat recently imported was handed with wide-colored macramé lace, there being also this lace on the sleeves set on with tailored bands of the cloth, and self-colored buttons. The coat was unlined and had the neutral color which is the safest to consider when selecting a coat for many to be worn with several types of dresses.

The coats sketched are more striking and make a special appeal to those wintering under palm trees.
The one at the left is an example of natural colored ratina with jumper frank, bound in bright red and blue crêpe de chine which faces the coat.
Embroidery in these shades adds life to the wrap. At the right is a coat of woven wool in tapestry effect,
using fawn and browns with a lavish
adornment of beaver.

THE COAT FOR RESORT WEAR.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)
The importance of the coat can hardly be questioned, even though one's lot may be cast in places which do not necessitate a coat for the warmth it may give.

Deville sponsored the colored revelation coat on smartly tailored lines, and it has gained prestige, not only because of that, but because of its merit and adaptability to resort wear.

One woman southward bound,
whose gray, because not being able to be worn with several types of dresses, was decided when the ensemble urge was greatest that she could add a bright horizontal line to match the hat and scarf she was wearing. She could also have a gray felt hat, which, with gray footwear, would link up with any light dress.

Here and There About the Town

Thursday Night's Storm Started Out Like a Regular Blizzard, but Did Not Keep It Up—The Tale of the Pet Duck That Became Storm-bound.

"That was some storm we had Thursday night," remarked the customer this morning in the barber shop, "and I thought we were in for another blizzard like that famous one of '88."

"It did start off as though it was going to be a rip snorter," agreed the busy barber, "and coming down on the trolley car the next morning I heard Motorman Tim Hannon say the storm was a 'howling success.'"

"But no encore is wanted," added Conductor Jack Dawe, with a grin. "One good feature of the snow though," said the customer, "is the fact that it gives work to a lot of men."

"And it has been an excellent opportunity for trying out the new snow loader the city bought," added the barber, "and it appeared to me it was a good investment. I saw it work Friday on the Strand and the only objection I found was that there were not enough trucks to keep the loader busy."

Talking about the storm, continued the barber, "reminds me of the pet duck we got in the back yard at home. Friday morning all you could see of him was his head as he stretched out his long neck to look over the top of the snow bank to see if any one was coming to feed him. It was too much of a job to shovel a path to his coop, and I decided to have a little sport with him and called to him to come to me."

"I had taught him to answer a whistle and when I signalled he jumped to the top of the snow bank. Well you would have died laughing. The snow was so soft that he was unable to make headway through it, and had to give it up and he rolled off the bank into his coop, shaking his head in disgust."

"I figured that I would have to shovel the path to him anyway as I could not leave him all day without his meals, but evidently he was not taking any chances on me getting busy with the shovel for he strutted rattled around his coop, poking his long neck here and there into the loose snow."

"He had me guessing as to what he was up to when I saw him pick up a long flat board I had left in the coop. Whether you believe it or not he placed the board on top of the snow and climbed on it and it held up his weight without sinking into the snow, working in much the same way as a snow shoe."

"What the dickens is that duck up to?" I muttered to myself as I saw him suddenly jab his bill into it and then stretch out his wings to their full extent. You remember how the wind blew that morning. Well whether you believe it or not that duck and board shot over the top of the snow and never stopped until it struck the corner of the porch where I was standing and the duck hopped off and quacked for his breakfast."

"What kind of a board did you say it was that the duck stuck his bill in so easily?" asked the customer.

"Why, it was soft pine," replied the barber.

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

ST. BATHILDE, TWO SLAVE WHO BECAME A QUEEN.

Bathilde was an Englishwoman who lived in the seventh century. As a girl she was captured and carried off to France, and sold as a slave to Ethelwald, mayor of the palace under King Charle II.

She soon attracted the attention of the king, and Charle, falling violently in love with her, made her his queen and queen. This elevation from a position of servitude to that of royal consort did not make Bathilde happy.

She had her influence with the king to bring about the abolition of the enslavement of Christians. When the king died she became regent and ruled France with wisdom, justice and kindness. When her son, Charle, ascended the throne she retired to a convent, and in her later years was remembered for her devotion to the poor and the sick. Her memory is still perpetuated by many churches and convents in France.

Sports Program At the Y. W. C. A.

The open house at the Y. W. C. A. Friday evening was a gala affair. The seating capacity was too limited for all who wanted to see the two basketball games and the rest of the program put on in celebration of Health Week. The gymnasium work done by the Business Girls' Gym Class was excellent and according to the judges Miss Katharine Millard best executed the commands, while Miss Nan Rodie was the quickest to execute the same commands.

Then two clever dances were given by four of the youngest girls, June Mae Edden, Elizabeth Howe, Emily O'Leary and Jane Ward. The dances were the French Dolls and Jumping Jack.

A health skit by the Live Y. girls was as lively as their name and was well given.

Then came the big event of the evening, the basketball game between the Total Eclipse and the Shooting Stars. The lineup was as follows:

When the Eclipse came in in their summer gowns and large summer shades, hats, and arretes, there was tremendous applause, which grew in intensity as the game proceeded. It was some fast and furious game, and finally a ladder being brought in, the Eclipse's center gallantly mounted the name and dropped the ball into the cage; waved the American flag and cheered which was the end of the great game, the score of which was 48 to 0 in favor of the Eclipse.

Young Campbell Staples with his pail of good cold water, to revive fainting ones was ready for any first aid needed. Any change of color scheme from the usual pink and white on the complexion of the members of the board of directors, has a reason.

When it was further announced that "now there would be a real basketball game between two high school teams" the Eclipse let out a most lusty yell.

Then came the game between the two high school teams, the Kluxers and the High School team, the latter winning the game, which was a lively one.

Thought for the Day.

There is never a valley so deep that we cannot see out if we will but look up.

Mortgages and Deeds Decrease

During the month of January there were 266 deeds, releases, rights of way and other conveyances of realty filed for record in the office of the Ulster county clerk. This is a decrease of 78 under the number filed during January, 1924, when 338 were filed. On January 24 and on January 30, this year not one conveyance was filed January 24 was Saturday when the eclipse of the sun occurred which probably accounts for the non-filing of conveyances as people were too busy to come to town that day. Cold weather probably was the reason for none coming in on Friday. There were 286 mortgages during that month, a falling off of 95 over January, 1924, when 381 were filed for record. Nine conveyances were filed up to noon today when the office closed.

Approve Plan for State Building

Republican Legislative Leaders Predict Approval of Plan for Office Building at Albany to House State Departments.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, N. Y., Jan. 31.—The recommendation made by Governor Smith's special committee that $10,000,000 be raised through a bond issue to erect a new state office building and a new state museum on Capitol Hill, will be approved by the Legislature, Republican leaders predicted today.

Under the plan the state would take over an entire block on State street, between Hawk and Swan streets, for the new office building. This building would cost about $6,500,000 and would be designed along lines of the state educational building. It would be located directly across the street from the capitol.

The proposed museum would cost about $3,500,000. It would be located one block west of the capitol and would face Capitol Park. At present the museum is in the educational building.

Mayor William S. Hackett of Albany was chairman of the committee. The other members included State Architect Sullivan W. Jones and James R. Watt, former mayor of Albany.

Kearns Likely to Manage Walker

Management of Welterweight Champion Best Bet Now For Dempsey's Manager—Kearns and Richard Not Serious Over Announcement.

By Davis J. Walsh.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 31.—With long distance skepticism prevailing here the matter of Jack Dempsey's announced retirement from affairs of the fist, comes a report today that would seem to bear out the good faith of the champion's statement.

The report is to the effect that Jack Kearns is soon to take over the management of Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, and it comes from sources of some little probability.

Walker would neither deny nor affirm the report today but the fact is generally known that a deal between Jack and Mickey has been hanging fire for some time. It has been held in abeyance because of Walker's objection to playing picnics accompaniments when he might be the big fiddle under a more obscure management. That objection would be removed automatically if Dempsey severs relations with Kearns and duly retires, as advertised.

With the withdrawal of Benny Leonard and the announced intention of Dempsey to do likewise, Walker remains as the most notable of the ring champions of today. The fact that Kearns is ready to do business with him indicates pretty strongly that the well known collector of rare and well done coins is casting about for an unpunished meat ticket, that, in short, Kearns is inclined to take Dempsey's announcement seriously.

Kearns, of course, has tried to laugh the idea out of countenance. So has Richard, both have become rich men through Dempsey's hair for punching retired piano movers the rotunda and they had high hopes of the future. They are natural skeptics on the subject of Dempsey's retirement.

But the writer learned months ago that Dempsey planned to withdraw from the ring and the champion's continued affirmations since then have not been without the ring of sincerity. As matters now stand, he means every word he says, and if he goes through with it, the sport of boxing will be without a heavyweight champion and Mr. Kearns will be without a meat ticket.

His next best bet will be Mickey Walker. The last bet leaves within a few days for the coast where he will take on Bert Collins at Los Angeles on February 24. According to the good word, his business with Kearns will be settled then.

Two years ago, such an alliance would not be possible. Walker had a life long friend, Jack Bulger, as his manager then but Bulger died slightly more than a year ago and his place was taken by Joe Dignan.

The welterweight champion, of course, has never given public expression of a lack of satisfaction with Dignan's services but close friends of the fighter have made no secret of what they claim to be Mickey's desire to swap managerial horses in mid-stream. It is said that he feels he should have attained greater prominence as a champion if such is his desire, Kearns is the man to gratify it.

BERLENBACH AWARDED DECISION OVER MARULLO

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 31.—Largely because he forced the fighting during the last eight rounds, Paul Berlenbach won the decision over Tony Marullo, of New Orleans last night but lost much of the prestige he had built up as a knockout king. Marullo took everything that Berlenbach had and still was strong at the end. In addition he rocked Paul, always a mark for a right hand, on many occasions with stinging rights to the head.

Marullo took the lead in a fast and furious first round and held it for two more but then Berlenbach's superior strength and aggressiveness came in to play and he roughed his way to a decision that was not altogether popular with the crowd.

CLINTON AVENUE BEAT FIRST DUTCH FIVE

Friday night the Clinton Avenue Seniors at Epworth Hall, creased up for their defeat of a few weeks ago when they downed the First Dutch Five, 32 to 12. Chapp, Hyatt and Boyce did the best work for the Clinton, while Zelle did the best scoring for the losers.

In a preliminary game the Alhambra Five, substituting for the Clinton Juniors, on account of sickness, defeated the Irish-American Juniors by a 27-21 score.

Poughkeepsie Beat Local Five

Friday afternoon the Kingston High School Varsity basketball team lost a hard fought game to Poughkeepsie. At the end of the first quarter with the score six and five in favor of the Bridge City quintet, a whole new team took the floor for Kingston. The new players proved too inexperienced to hold the league leaders and at the end of the half Poughkeepsie was at the long end of a 18-7 score. However in the second half the Kingston regulars resumed the play and scored nine points to Poughkeepsie's two. The big lead of the first half was too much and the final score stood 20-16, in favor of Poughkeepsie. Cavanaugh of Poughkeepsie and Tetley of Kingston took the scoring honors of the game, each making three field goals and one foul. Poughkeepsie now leads the league with Kingston and Newburgh tie for second honors.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 31.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul, pounded "Tiger Tim" Herman into submission in the third round of their scheduled ten round bout last night. Gibbons scored Herman three times in the second round and once previously in the third. "Tiger Tim" looked good in the first round when he held Gibbons practically even but Gibbons' marksmanship was too true in the second and third. Billy Peterson knocked out Nate Lewis in the second round.
